Much Clinching.

Round 3-Both came to the center, Jeffies missing a left, and both clinching. Joined shooked left to neck, and Corbett Increased in speed somewhat, and had to run the awold a rush. He turned quickly and put sight over the heart hard. There was a lot of clinching, neither man taking a chance in the break. Jeffies barely missed the right for Corbett's jaw, and roughed him in the clinch. There was much hooting from the galleries. Jeffies forced him, fighting flerely. Corbett landed three holds once on the Jaw and stomed with left. The hlows ald not hurt Jeffies, and he only smiled and forced his man about the ring. It was a rough round, in which longors were even.

Round 4-Jeffies went after Corbett, but clever clinching and blocking prevented damage. Jeffies swung left hard to the chest, and got left on the mouth and right over the heart. Corbett got in oc close to the chest, and got left on the mouth and right over the heart. Corbett got in close, Jabbing Jeffies wing left hard to the chest, and got left on the mouth and right over the heart. Corbett got in close, Jabbing Jeffies with left several times, but the blows were so light that Jeffries only laughed. Corbett was strong and ran to his corner at the close.

Lacked Force.

Round 5—Police Captain Mooney entered the ring to look at Jeffries gloves. Fitz-elimnors and Ryan went to Jeffries' corner and cut the glove off. Another was immediately substituted, but not until liftry seconds of the fifth round had exited. Jeffries fought for the body, Cornett doing some jast stepping to keep the fifth round had exited. Jeffries tought for the body, Cornett doing some jast stepping to keep the fifth of the fifth and hooks, and alternated with a short right over he heart, which seemed to be the best had Jeffries stood up straight and coked Jim twice in the stoyaich. Cornett put the best blow so far on Jeffries the but got a left on the neck in reason. Corbett seemed tred. He did not seem to have any force behind his blows, its old cutting left stabs were not in ridonce.

Staggered Jeffries.

Staggered Jeffries.

Round &-Corbett staggered Jeffries with a left to the nose, and ducked Jeffries left to the nose, and ducked Jeffries left to the body. Corbett sending in half a dezen left and rights on Jeffries face, which he accepted pleasantly. Jeffries was coming toward his man all the time, and in a breakaway almost landed right on the jaw. Jeffries put a hard left to the body, got two lefts on the face and came back with left on the head. Corbett endeavored to jab Jeffries in the eye, but thus far his blows had not raised a bump. Corbett fought cleverly at this stage, sending in half a dozen lefts and rights on the jaw. He seemed to improve, and the great crowd was in a state of wild excitement. They cheered him to the echo. This was Corbett's round. He had changed his style, and was using some of his old-time cleverness in ducking and blocking.

Round 9-Jeffries, came aj Corbett like the rush of a mad buill. Corbett put left on face and avoided a return. Jeffries leaned heavily on Corbett in the clinch. Corbett seemed as strong as ever and there was a long sevies of clinches. Corbett yat two rights at the body at close quarters. He hooked Jeffries on the jaw there times with left and crossed with right. Corbett's left cheek showed a lump-from one of Jeffries' closs arm blows. Jeffries had a similar mark. At the close Corbett jabbed Jeffries' mouth with his left three times, but they were weak efforts.

Threw up Spong.

Round 10—Jeffries stood straight up and came after his man without hesitation; Corbett seemed to make a waiting fight. They exchanged lefts to the face and Jeffries made a victous effort. Jeffries sent a left hook to the stomach and Corbett went down for nine seconds. He got up and received a left in the stoch and right on the jaw; he went down, and after the count. Tommy Ryan threw up his sponge. Corbett was stiffering piln and a chair was brought for him. After a minute's rest he got up and shook hands with Jeffries.

Largest Crowd Ever Assembled a Ringside in this Country. (By Associated Press.) SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., August 14.-

Ten thousand men were seated about the arena in Mechanics' Pavilion at 9 o'clock to-night, representing an expenditure for seating accommodations aggregating $4,-60. This is the largest crowd ever assembled at a ring-side in this country, and the third largest sum in dollars and cents ever contested for. The two that excended it in receipts were the Corbett-Jeffries fight at Coney Island, $86,000, and the Corbett-McCoy fight at Madison Square Garden, New York, $93,900.

The pavilion ticket-holders were more letsurely about coming to claim their seats. Not until 9 o'clock were the chairs, boxes and benches full. About the ring were many celebrities that have graced every pugilistic encounter during the last decade. The features of "Parson" Pavies were prominent, along with the veteran referee, Geerge Sijer; Sandy Grisweld, of Omaha; Harry Houghton, of St. Louis; Harry Thaw, the Pittsburg millionaire, and scores of others. Over on the south side of the area more than 400 Jeffries admirers from Los Angeles, the home of Jeffries, sat in a group. Official San Prancisco was largely represented. Bench har and Council-in fact; every branch of the city administration—were at the ring-side.

The report in circulation that the Rock Island Railway system, which a few days ago acquired the Seaboard Air Line Railway, was negotiating for the control of the Atchison. "Politics in the Conference,"

Editor of The Times-Dispatch:
The above headline appeared in The Times-Dispatch in reference to the report of the Committee on Temperance at the Petersburg Conference. If working or speakingt for one individual as against another, entirely apart from moral issues, is meant, then there were no "politics" in the conference. But if, by the word "politics" is meant a consideration of the duty of Christian citizens on a great moral issue, then there were "politics" in the Petersburg Conference. The conference enuctated distinctly the listoric position of the Methodist church in reference to the liquor traific. By resolution it declared it to be the enemy of the church of Christ and called upon all the members of the church to line up in the Legislature. The conference demanded that the officers of the State, from the judge the officers of the State, from the judge the published who had tried to nullify the beach of by ignoring the violations of the work enemous as a friends who had tried to nullify the beach or by ignoring the violations of the work there is no the trust, and Christian citizens were called upon to withought sheet support from all

OYSTER BAY, L. 1., Aug. 14.—Financial legislation an dother work of the proposed extraordinary session of Congress were discussed to-day by the 'President with several of his callers. The first arrivals were Secretaries Shaw and Hitchcock, respectively of the Treasury and Interior Departments. They considered with the President the suggestions made by the members of the Senate subcommittee on Finance at their conference with the President on Wednesday night, particularly with regard to an extraordinary session of Congress at a date earlier than November 2th. Considerable opposition has developed to the idea of calling the extra sossion in October. The point is made that many senators and representatives will be engaged during October in their State campaigns, and that it would be politically unwise for them its Jeave ther States at such a time.

It was announced to-day that no definite conclusion regarding the date of the extraordinary session had yet been reached, and that no decision would be announced until the President shall have consulted members of both branches of Congress and others.

laws as intended by the Legislature, and those officials who had tried to millify the law, either by misinterpretation on the bench or by ignoring the violations of it, were denounced as faithless to their trust, and Christian citizens were called upon to withdraw their support from all such officials. The conference furthermore placed itself on record as irr favor of extending the proyIslon of the "Mann bill" to apply to "social clubs" and distilleries, and while taking no stand as between Democrats and Republicans, the conference did call upon Christian citizens to allow no men to be defeated for the Legislature because he was in favor of the "Mann bill." If the organized liquor traffic is striving to defeat a man because of his position on a moral issue then the church, as a great moral organization, should resist through its individual membership this assault upon merals, and so this conference sounded a note of warning and called upon its membership to oppose with all its power this movement of the liquor traffic to punsh men for their attitude on a moral issue. The conference was entirely consistent in this course, It is in line with Methodist legislation and discipline. Paragraph 215 of the Discipline of the M. E. Church, South, is as follows:

"Let all our preachers and members abstain from the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquor to be used as a beverage, from signing petitions for such sale. If any member shall violate any of the provisions of this paragraph he shall be deemed guilty of immorality."

This legislation is not recent, made for the State of Virginia, but is of many years' standing, and is for the whole church. No man has a right to sign a petition for license, it is immoral to sign and petition for license, it is immoral to support men for the Legislature who are in favor of license. The summer School of Methods is a grand move in the right direction by the Educational Society, and I am sure every student who attended was much benefited. And I think the school in a body should thank our popular conductor, Mr. E. G. Glass, for his untiring efforts to make everything instructive, and agreeable to all parties. Everywhere, one could see his keen, intelligent, kindly face—at the registrar's desk, about the lobby, hearing the lectures, always busy, and like the magicians of old, he seemed to be able to be in many places at once, and always on hand when most needed. Then besides all the fine lecturers, the fine old University, its lawn and campus, and grand old shade trees, made us feel as if we had stepped through the beautiful frescoe dportal into the real "School of Athens," into the broader, grander life, where we felt "to know the Iruth would make us free."

State and very little interest has yet been taken in the matter generally. In many cases the nominations are practically going begging.

In the King and Queen and Essex district Mr. James M. Lowis is an aspirant for the nomination. Hen, George C. Bland, the present member, is yet undecided whether he will aspire to renomination. In the event that he does not stand for re-election, Mr. Lewis will win without opposition.

Rockbridge now has but one delegate instead of two, as under the old apportionment. Both representatives in the inst House were Republicans. Mr. J. B. Craig, of Cold Sulphur Springs, a former member of the House, is a candidate for the nomination, and Mr. R. G. Mitchell is also in the field. It is hard to predict the result. The Republicans of the county, will probably renominate Mr. J. M. In the Alleghand, and Craig district it is expected that Hon, James W. Marshall will be the nominee without opposition. Craig is safely Democratic and Alleghang's Republican majority has been greatly reduced by the new registration. In Botetourt Mr. Allen, the present member, will not stand for renomination, being Commonwealth's attorney. Mr. H. A. Latane is in the field and will probably be the nominee.
